TEAM WORKING AGREEMENT AND RULES

1. Personal Goals

Each of us wants to improve both our technical and teamwork skills through this project. We also hope to gain real experience working on a structured project and build something we're proud of. Achieving these goals will help the team perform better since everyone will be motivated to contribute and learn.

2. Values, Mission, and Common Goals

As a team, we value communication, accountability, and respect for each other's ideas. Our goal is to successfully complete the project while creating something meaningful and well-executed. We aim to stay organized, meet deadlines, and support each other throughout the process.

3. Strengths and Weaknesses

Each member brings different strengths, such as coding, design, organization, or problem-solving. Some weaknesses may include time management or lack of experience in certain areas. We plan to address these by helping each other, dividing tasks based on strengths, and staying flexible.

4. People, Roles, and Accountabilities

We will assign roles like team lead, note-taker, and task manager, but keep flexibility so others can step in if needed. Everyone will be responsible for completing their assigned tasks on time. We will also share responsibilities like scheduling meetings and tracking progress.

5. Needs and Expectations

We expect clear communication, honesty, and consistent effort from each team member. Everyone should keep the team updated on their progress and availability. We will communicate through group chats and meetings, and handle conflicts by discussing them respectfully and finding solutions together.

6. Rules and Activities

We will work in an organized way by setting deadlines, tracking tasks, and regularly checking progress. Success will be measured by meeting milestones and the quality of our final project. We will ensure fair contribution by dividing work clearly and holding each other accountable.
